

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Disclosed is a communication device including a portable terminal having a wireless communication function. The communication device receives category 5 information and associated information from an information providing apparatus located at a relatively short distance to store both pieces of the information in an internal memory. The communication device deletes information received prior to the latest point 10 of time of reception from the internal memory.